

21st March 2019

Statement - Salmonella in Shell Eggs

To Whom It May Concern,

We advise that the eggs supplied by Pace Farm are not associated in any way with the current Salmonella recall for shell eggs produced by Bridgewater Poultry.

Pace Farm is proud to supply safe, quality shell eggs and egg products throughout Australia. Our stringent food safety programs mitigate the risks associated with food borne pathogens including Salmonella.

Pace Farm participate in the Victoria and NSW joint Salmonella accreditation program. This program requires us to monitor and report the presence of Salmonella through environmental sampling and auditing. Farms must comply with the rules of the program and best farming practice at all times.

In addition to the above, Pace Farm facilities are regularly inspected and independently audited to various food safety and health standards. Our management systems are based on HACCP to ensure food safety risks are managed effectively. Any contracted supply must be a minimum NSW Food Authority, or third part independently audited.

Should you require any further information or assistance, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Kindest regards,

Liviu Gorgos
Quality Assurance Coordinator
Pace Farm Pty Ltd

correspondence:
locked bag 800
rooty hill, nsw 2766

sydney (head office)
1 kippist avenue
minchinbury, nsw 2770

tel 02 9830 9800
fax 02 9830 9801

acn: 003 529 575

